Steven Wolfson

Owner of the world-renowned 'von Wolf' Kennel in the USA

Internationally recognised Rottweiler Specialist Judge, ARC Head Breed Survey Judge & author

I am a steadfast supporter, passionate about the Rottweiler since 1977 and became an AKC Rottweiler breeder specialist judge in 2003. My goal of breeding and titling working Rottweilers came to fruition when I titled my Dux von Wolf Sch.1 BH, ZTP, AD, and several others in my breeding program to their BH's. In 2003, I wrote and published my book, the Priority of Breed Type in the Rottweiler. My other books, The Rottweiler In Type and The Rottweiler Judge's Handbook have also been published. I have lectured for Rottweiler Clubs worldwide and written many articles on Rottweiler structure and type, which are referenced by the American Rottweiler Club and have been translated into several other languages for international Rottweiler Club newsletters.

Adding to my credits, I have written and codified the first ARC National Sieger Show rules and regulations, revamped - with ARC Board approval - the ARC Judges' Education presentation, and have extensive knowledge of the workings, verbal critiquing and rating system of Sieger style Shows. Additionally, I am Head Survey Judge for the ARC Breed Survey, former ARC Judges Education coordinator and have judged Breed Surveys for the American Rottweiler Club, the Rottweiler Clubs of Australia, New Zealand and Ecuador.

In the US and Canada, I judged Rottweilers for many All-Breed AKC and Specialty Rottweiler Shows. Internationally I have judged extensively, including the IFR Sieger Show in 2004, the World Show in Mexico City and Specialist Sieger Shows in Norway, Italy, Ecuador, Columbia, Argentina, Australia and New Zealand. I have conducted 46 Breed Surveys for the American Rottweiler Club, numerous Surveys for other international Rottweilers Clubs, including Clubs in New Zealand and Australia. My judging style is precise, thorough, fair and I believe exhibitors can profit from and enjoy it.
